

MICRO TITANIUM MELT Series

The highest spec of TAKUMI motor oil.

MICRO TITANIUM MELT is very popular circuit spec, expertised in X-TREME development to be the highest grade model which has high performance series. This series is suitable for racing and circuit, and also match to high-tune car.

X-TREME Series

Demonstrated in the race. High performance motoroil for tuning car and sport car.

These series pursue high performance to the utmost as a flagship model for circuit users and exhibit stable hydraulic performance, lubrication performance, and cooling performance under high temperature and long-term high pressure environment.

HYBRID Series

Latest technology for modern sports cars and hybrid cars.

HYBRID series, the basic properties are enhanced by blending PAO (Polyalphaolefin) with the latest base oil, and two conflicting performance requirements are realized by the unique additive technology. While maintaining good startability and fuel efficiency, it demonstrates the strong oil film performance and lubrication performance which required for sports cars.

HIGH QUALITY Series

All-purpose spec for sport race to city ride.

HIGH QUALITY series, we have succeeded in well-balanced improving the lubrication performance, cooling performance, and sealing performance which are the basic performance of engine oils. This performance is manifested in the smooth rotation feeling and quietness that can be felt immediately after getting out.

STANDARD Series

Highly versatile and long-life model optimized for a wide-range of automobile engine.

This series has a sealing property by providing a slightly harder viscosity property while having stable viscosity characteristics, lubrication performance, clean and dispersive performance. As a result, while strongly protect the engine, smooth rotation feel, output improvement and maintenance, and quietness are realized.

MULTI GEAR Series

Bring out extreme pressure performance under large torque conditions.

Developing new proprietary wear resistant additives. The plus a performance characteristics of this unique prescription is strongly protect the metal gear surface and prevent seizing even in severe conditions (extreme pressure conditions) where high temperature, low torque, low speed, high torque, and continuous high speed impact load occur.

ATF Series

Outstanding torque transmission performance and endurance.

There is a clear DEXIII/JASO 1A performance standard which use of HIVI TECHNOLOGY to exhibit viscosity property suitable for AT. Specifically, it's the excellent friction characteristics in the torque converter of AT, so that torque transmission becomes more stable and enable, even at low temperature to high temperature, maintained stability.
