What is HIVI base oils technology ?

The manufacturing process of TAKUMI base oils is differ from conventional type base oils, That is the high quality base oils,advanced hydrogen decomposition and purification. The difference is low impurities, dramatically reduced mixing of sulfur content , nitrogen content, unsaturated hydrocarbon. As a result, rapidly improve the basic performance including oxidation stability.
Our factory certified ISO9001/ISO14001 and JIS (Japanese Industrial Standards), That means it is high-reliability and quality control that we are proud of.

Engine oil specifications

Engine oil cans indicated oil grade (Quality) and viscosity for choosing oils to suitable for a car model and purpose of use. Engine oil quality and viscosity is specified in international standards. 0W-20 oil is the commonly which is relatively soft and low-viscosity.

Viscosity indication

SAE (United states Society of Automotive Engineers)standards

the lower number are suitable for cold weather (not hardening in low temperature) stands for "winter" the higher number are suitable for hot weather (also keeping viscosity in high temperature)

Grade (Quality) indication

Starburst mark
API grade (American Petroleum Institute) ILSAC grade (The International Lubricant Standards Association )
